

Equality Impact Assessment (EqIA) Screening Template

When to complete an EqIA Screening

An EqIA Screening Template must be completed when reviewing, changing and developing procedures/ proposals/ projects/ policies. This is a first step and is used to consider whether there are any negative impacts that may arise.

Purpose of an EqIA Screening Template

The purpose of this short exercise is to ensure that you have shown appropriate due regard when considering the impact for people with protected characteristics in your decision making. The screening process is designed to help you consider the circumstances and to inform evidence-based decisions.

If the proposal is of a significant nature and it is apparent from the outset that a full EqIA will be required, then it is not necessary to complete this Screening Template, you can proceed to complete the full EqIA.

If no negative impacts are identified following completion of the EqIA screening then it is not necessary to undertake a full EqIA however, the decision and justification must be clearly recorded in this document.

On completion of the Screening Template:

- Ensure that all the white boxes within the screening are completed.
- Ensure that the Procedure/ Project/ Proposal/ Policy owner has signed and dated the Screening Template.
- Send a copy of the completed template along with the related policy or project proposal to Inclusion.hdd@wales.nhs.uk for the Diversity & Inclusion Team to review.
- Each Screening Template will be reviewed by the Diversity & Inclusion Team and feedback will be provided to the Procedure/ Project/ Proposal/ Policy owner. This may include recommendations for further action to inform robust decision-making.

Title of Procedure, Project, Proposal, Policy being screened:	627. Management of Antepartum Haemorrhage Guideline

Description of the Procedure/ Project/ Proposal/ Policy being screened (including key aims and objectives)

This guideline is to provide support and guidance for Hywel Dda health care professionals working within maternity and community, who provide care for pregnant women who present with any bleeding from the genital tract from 24 +0 weeks gestation. This can range from spotting of blood to major or massive haemorrhage up to and exceeding 1000mls

Antepartum haemorrhage (APH) is defined as Bleeding from or into the genital tract, occurring from 24+0 weeks of pregnancy and prior to the birth of the baby.

The aim of the guideline is to provide guidance in the management of antepartum haemorrhage in order to mitigate the risks of maternal and fetal morbidity / mortality.

The aim will be achieved by the following objective:

- Staff able to appropriately assess and recognise provide consistent high-quality management of APH.

Evidence considered (including staff and population data, relevant research, expert and community knowledge etc.)

The most important causes of APH are placenta praevia and placental abruption, although these are not the most common. APH complicates 3–5% of pregnancies and is a leading cause of perinatal and maternal mortality worldwide with

Up to one-fifth of very preterm babies are born in association with APH, and the known association of APH with cerebral palsy can be explained by preterm delivery.

Although a number of risk factors for APH have been described approximately 70% of cases of placental abruption occur in low-risk pregnancies. Prompt assessment of maternal and/or fetal compromise is key to establishing if urgent intervention is necessary and will guide management

Speed is of the essence, so clear lines of communication between the midwifery, obstetric, anaesthetic and the blood transfusion staffs is essential.

Assess which protected characteristics will potentially be affected by the proposal in the table below (please ✓ the relevant box to confirm positive, negative or no impact).

If at any point a negative impact has been identified (actual or potential), you do not need to proceed with the completion of this form, as a full EqlA must be undertaken: Equality Impact Assessments \(EqlAs\) \(sharepoint.com\)
